STATE INSURANCE SUPERINTENDENT

DRIVES MUTUAL INDEMNITY COMPANY OUT OF BUSINESS

Injunction Asked For to Restrain 24 Banks in State From Paying Out Any of the Company Assets--Receiver Also Asked For and Things Seem Not to Be Very Flattering For Company's Prospects.

Accusing officials of the Great American Mutual Indemnity Co., Mansfield, of making a false financial statement, Harry L. Conn, state superintendent of insurance Tuesday filed a petition in the court of appeals at Columbus, asking that he be allowed to take over the company and operate it.

He also asked a temporary injunction against 24 banks in the state to restrain them from paying out any of the company's money. It was granted by Judges Allread and Kunkle.

Two minutes later Nathan C. Hirsch, a stockholder in the company, filed action in common pleas court asking a receiver be appointed for the company.

Conn alleges the company, in its financial statement, listed $15,000 cash by a check, which is said to be spurious and which never has been collected.

Court of appeals judges will hear the case at 10 a. m. April 8.

Hirsch, who says he filed his petition on behalf of all stockholders alleged the company had a large number of unpaid claims which have involved it in a number of litigations and which, if sustained, would make it insolvent.

The company, which was incorporated in 1917, issues liability, steam boiler, health, automobile accident, fire and theft insurance.

There are 500 stockholders in the company, Hirsch said.

His action will be heard at 9 a. m. Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Rogers.

This is one of the biggest mutual automobile insurance crashes on record in Ohio, this company being the largest of its kind in Ohio and one of the largest in the United States. It employs approximately 1000 agents in Ohio and wrote more than $1,000,000 in automobile insurance in 1920 or more than 25 per cent of the business of the state.

According to the annual report for 1925 filed with the state insurance department by the company in which it is alleged there was fraud, the company claimed assets of $874,784 and liabilities of $685,280.

The petition of the state alleges that the company "is insolvent; that it has willfully violated the insurance laws of this state by willfully making a false annual statement and causing the said false annual statement to be filed with the insurance department of Ohio; that in said annual statement it carries as a cash item a check for $15,000 on which it has never collected the money and which is reported to be spurious, and the plaintiff believes and alleges it to be fraudulent; that it is represented as having moneys on deposits are for future collateral only to certain obligation of the company—that it has permitted agents' balances to remain uncollected until many of the balances are uncollectable; that it is operating and carrying on a certain repair garage at a constant loss over the objections of more than two years' standing, contrary to its charter and to the insurance laws of Ohio."

The petition further alleged that the superintendent of insurance on examination has found "the company to be in such condition that its further transaction of business will be hazardous to its members, its policyholders, its creditors and to the public."

NATURAL GAS COMPANIES RAISE RATES

Adjustments are Being Made to Encourage Increase by Large Users of Gas.

Natural gas companies which a few years ago adjusted their schedules to discourage the large consumption of gas are now rearranging their rates so as to encourage an increased use of gas.

The Dayton Power and Light company, Dayton, has just filed with the Ohio Public Utilities commission a proposed schedule for Dayton which provides for a rate of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 25,000 cubic feet of natural gas used. The present ordinance carries a rate of $1 for all over 20,000 cubic feet of gas used. Thus the charge to the heavy consumers of gas is cut in half.

The gas company, on the other hand, has raised the rate for the first 5,000 cubic feet of gas from 50 cents a thousand to 75 cents a thousand, an increase of 50 per cent to the small consumer.

Dayton's city commission, headed by Mayor A. C. McDonald, announces that it intends to make an extended study of the gas situation before entering into any agreement. "So many for a period of ninety days and if it proves satisfactory some arrangements will be made to install them permanently. It is the intention to place lights at Franklin and Court and at the intersections of Watt, Pinkney and Court streets."

Other cities of the state which have new natural gas schedules up for consideration will watch with interest Mayor McDonald's course in Dayton, as he has determined to make a strong fight for a reasonable rate and will carry the case to the Utilities commission and, the courts if necessary in order to obtain an equitable schedule, it is stated.

A NICE HONOR

Frances Walling, of Randolph-Macon college, Lynchburg, Virginia, was elected delegate by her fraternity, Kappa Alpha Theta, to attend their triennial convention to meet in San Francisco, California, July 1.

Columbus—Complete denial of the charge by State Superintendent of Insurance Harry L. Conn that they have been guilty of making false financial statements was made today by officials of the Great American Mutual Indemnity company of Mansfield.

BURDEN ON FUTURE

There are members of Congress who are setting up the cry that the next generation should pay for the war. They would extend the period of retirement of the public debt to 60 years instead of the 25-year term contemplated at present.

To these gentlemen Secretary Mellon has made an effective reply. One part of that reply is as non-technical as anything could be. It is something that every American voter of normal intelligence can understand. For that reason it should be given emphasis whenever the subject is argued.

"This country is today exceedingly prosperous," says the Secretary of the Treasury. "It can afford to pay off its debts without undue burden upon its taxpayers. Its history has always been prompt extinguishment of its war debts. It is ready for the next emergency when it comes. The time to repair your roof is in good weather, not when it is raining. The time to pay your debts is when you can."

Nobody can refute the Secretary's argument. The United States, prosperous now, can afford to pay its debts. We do not know how prosperous the United States will be 40 or 50 years from now, in the days when our children and grandchildren will have to bear the country's financial burdens. Why load them down with a burden in advance?—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

SMALL BOY DID COME IN HANDY

Rebecca West, the novelist and critic, discussed fathers at a dinner in New York.

"Fathers look on fatherhood in a selfish way," she said. "They are all more or less like Mr. Ferguson."

"Mr. Ferguson was a tremendous smoker, but his wife detested the habit; so he promised to swear off, and only smoked after that when out of the house."

"Well, one evening on his return home his tobacco fell out on the floor as he was taking his handkerchief from his pocket; but he didn't notice the accident and went on upstairs for a wash and brush-up. Then he came down to dinner."

"He had just taken his seat when Mrs. Ferguson stalked in with the tobacco. She held it under his nose and said:

"What do you know about this?"

"With wonderful presence of mind Mr. Ferguson turned to his young son."

"Holy mackinaw!" he snarled. "Smoking at your age, hey? Come with me, you young whelp!"

"And he took the boy upstairs and gave him a sound thrashing. Then he threw the tobacco over the fence where he could easily find it in the morning."

"Gosh," he said afterward at the club, "what a grand good thing it is to be the father of an upstanding boy that you can rely on in these emergencies!"

Distinct Benefit of Trees on City Streets

In a discussion of the effect of trees on temperature Wesley Bailey Leach, city forester of New York, points out that if our streets and parks were well supplied with vigorous trees we should have much cooler summers and warmer winters.

He gave as his chief reason for this theory the fact that the temperature of a tree never varies, in summer or winter, from 54 degrees Fahrenheit.

"If we cross one of the avenues on a hot day," states Mr. Leach, "when the temperature is 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and pass under the shade of a tree we are refreshed by the cool air that meets us. What makes the change?"

Not the shade alone, but chiefly the fact that we are in the presence of a body that has a fixed temperature of 54 degrees Fahrenheit, or 46 degrees cooler than the street temperature."

Likewise, on a cold winter day, in passing from the zero temperature of the street into a group of trees, the warmth experienced is due not only to the shelter afforded by the trees but to the warmth of the trees themselves.

Honor Mme. Sevigne

At the Carnavalet museum this year will be observed the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mme. de Sevigne, the famous letter-writer of the Seventeenth century. The Paris municipal council has voted 30,000 francs (about $1,150) for the purpose. A special exhibition of portraits, souvenirs and documents associated with the distinguished letter-writer will be shown in the section of the building in which she lived for several years. The museum possesses a large collection of her documents, but other museums will lend from their collections to make the exhibition complete.

The sawfish is a ray, which retains the elongated form of the shark, with the tall as its sole organ of locomotion, says Nature Magazine. The saw, which in large individuals reaches a length of six feet, is a flat prolongation of the snout with a series of strong teeth on each side.

BIG TIME

Planned For House Warming Party April 9.

The meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion which was held at the Post room in Memorial Hall last evening was very well attended and the different committee chairmen reported that their work for the House Warming party which is to be held on Friday evening, April 9th, is progressing nicely. Mrs. Parrett, president, presided and the matter of poppies for the annual "Poppy Sale," which is always held just before Memorial Day, was discussed. It was decided to make the poppies this year at a special meeting which will be arranged for that purpose at a later date.

Membership in the Auxiliary is increasing, two new members being present last evening, Mrs. Albert Rogers and Mrs. Gilbert Cooper, while dues were received from Mrs. Brunelle Parrett Downing, of Springfield and Miss Margaret Shea, of Columbus, who were unable to be present. Application has been made for membership by Mary Ryan Watts who was also unable to be present last evening, and the names of Sara Haswell, Ruth Holman, Eleanor Ryan and Mrs. John Goodchild were presented for membership.

Mrs. Prose, hospital chairman, reported a donation by Mrs. Roy Davis of a set of O. Henry books and two dozen Victrola Records which were taken to the Veterans' hospital last week. A committee was also appointed to secure flowers for the wards for the hospital for Easter.

At the conclusion of the regular business an outline of the plans for the party was heard which included besides the already known cards and dancing, the announcement that the committee from the Legion had secured an orchestra which has been here before and which has proven very popular, a booth for refreshments has been planned, tables where ice-cream and cake will be served will also be placed in a convenient place and those who enjoy dancing may have the entire evening for that pleasure.

The hostesses will be Mrs. A. A. Parrett, Mrs. A. W. Holman, Mrs. Howard Jones, Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. Irwin F. Boggs, Mrs. J. J. Rooney, Mrs. C. E. Moeller, Miss Anna Florence, Mrs. Amos C. Wilson, Mrs. B. F. Yates, Mrs. Geo. R. Haswell, Mrs. Noah Weaver and Mrs. A. M. Weigand.

Mrs. B. T. Hedges will be chairman in charge of the card room and will be assisted by this committee: Mrs. Chas. Smith, Mrs. E. E. Prose, Mrs. Herschel Alkire, Mrs. Chas. Gusman, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson and Mrs. N. O. Frye.

Mrs. A. W. Holman is chairman in charge of cakes and will select her own helpers.

Tickets for this party are now in the hands of every member of both Legion and Auxiliary and as this money which it is hoped will be raised is to be used for the benefit of the ex-service man and his family it should be a pleasure for the citizens to help in a good cause and also enjoy an evening that has been planned for all.

LOANS UP TO $500.00.

It is doubtful if any one factor has elevated the living standards in the average family as much as the improved credit facilities afforded by modern financial institutions. Twenty years ago, if you wanted to buy a thing, you had to save the money first, and lay the cash on the barrel head. Today any worthy person can establish his credit, make his purchase and pay while he plays. City Loan service has progressed with the modern trend—in fact, has been a pioneer in the movement. It is popular because it fills the credit needs of most people. It enables folks to develop their character and to have most of the good things they deserve. City Loan customers are today enjoying comforts that were considered rare luxuries by Queen Victoria.

Mr. Barnhart, a certified public accountant, has audited the books and has estimated the cost of production and reports that everything is in first-class shape.

This company is not asking our people for something for nothing. No bonus of any kind is asked. For every $100 subscribed, one share of stock of the par value of $100 is issued.

Twenty thousand dollars will be used immediately for production, orders for which are now on hand and $15,000 will be used for the erection of a factory on suitable grounds in this city.

We have until Saturday of this week to make good on this, the cleanest offer that has ever been made to Circleville.

Here is a golden opportunity to help Circleville and, at the same time, help yourself.

If you have money in any amount that you would like to invest in a good paying concern and to advance the best interests of your home town, see Tom Gilliland, Bob Brehmer, Clarence Barnhart, Joseph R. SMOKE STACK BLOWN DOWN.

During a recent gale one of the big smoke stacks over the boiler plant of The Falls Rubber company, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, was blown down. This accident would have crippled the steam system very badly, meaning the loss of considerable time in their tire and Evergreen tube departments until a new stack could be erected.

Falls engineers conceived the idea of borrowing a railroad locomotive. The next morning following the accident an engine was stationed outside the power house. A steam pipe from the locomotive to the factory enabled Falls to resume operation. To obtain sufficient draft, a twenty foot stack was attached to the locomotive.

Britain Boosting Aviation

Great Britain appears determined to give civil and commercial aviation at least a fair chance. The latest step in this direction is the acquisition of Hendon airfield which the government bought for $650,000, in order to centralize and control in efficient manner every branch of aviation in Britain not primarily military. Of course, Hendon is to have a military importance also. Indeed, it will become the headquarters of two squadrons of the royal air force, as well as two auxiliary squadrons scheduled as part of the London air defense force. Hendon was originally a country club for wealthy amateurs in aviation.

Riceless Day

The Chinese are now conducting a campaign that is very much different than anything we have ever seen in this country. We are used to all sorts of campaigns to promote the eating of certain foods, but in China they are now conducting a campaign to get people not to eat rice. This is necessary, says the Progressive Grocer, because the heavy rice consumption usually leads to famine at the end of the year.

Modernize Home of Mary, Queen of Scots

London.—The old home of Mary, queen of Scots, has been modernized. Holyrood palace, near Edinburgh, one of the state apartments, not only has been equipped with modern heating arrangements, cooking ranges and bathtubs, but also an elevator and an up-to-date radio receiving set.

The present Queen Mary herself has taken great interest in the introduction of modern improvements at the ancient palace, and she and King George will pay a visit there as soon as the innovations have been installed.

Queen Mary also has purchased much antique furniture and many curios for Holyrood, to add to the attractiveness of the state apartments and to help fill the space from which an ancient stairway was removed to make way for an American-made elevator.

AMUSEMENTS

A picture that is made solely for entertainment purposes, is "Exchange of Wives," which is the attraction at the Met theater.

"Exchange of Wives" propounds no weighty question, not does it point a moral unless it is to try a trial exchange of wives before suing for a divorce.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production brings Eleanor Boardman and Lew Cody to the fore as excellent comedians, and gives Renee Adoree and Creighton Hale their greatest opportunities to date.

The treatment is said to present the Henley touch at its best, which is no small tribute, for it was this same master hand that produced "A Slave of Fashion," "So This is Marriage" and "The Denial." As in "A Slave of Fashion," Mr. Henley has accorded his latest achievement a deft comedy touch that makes each situation sparkle with brilliancy and freshness. Those who have seen the production are united in acclaiming "Exchange of Wives" his finest picture.

The theme has been rarely, if ever, used before, and lends itself most readily to screen treatment. It concerns two husbands married a little more than a year, who suddenly discover each other's wife to be more attractive and desirable than their respective wives. But when the cold, reserved wife of the one brings about an exchange of wives, each, after a short time, realizes what a pearl his own wife is.

The story is based on the famous Broadway play by Cosmo Hamilton. Frederic and Fanny Hatton wrote the adaptation and continuity.

Persia's Real Name

Iran is the official designation of the kingdom of Persia at the present day. The name Iran was originally given to the great plateau in western Asia, comprising modern Persia, most of Afghanistan, and Beluchistan. It extends from the Elburz and Hindu Kush mountains on the north of the Persian gulf and Arabian sea on the south and from Kurdistan and the Tigris on the west to the Indus on the east.—Kansas City Star.

Strike for Happy Medium

Far be it from us to decry an aspect of hominess in a room. A room to be successful must have the appearance of being lived in, otherwise it will be the cold, impersonal showroom of the decorator. There is a happy medium, and it is this that the owner of good taste must strive for in furnishing and decorating his home.

Excellent Advice

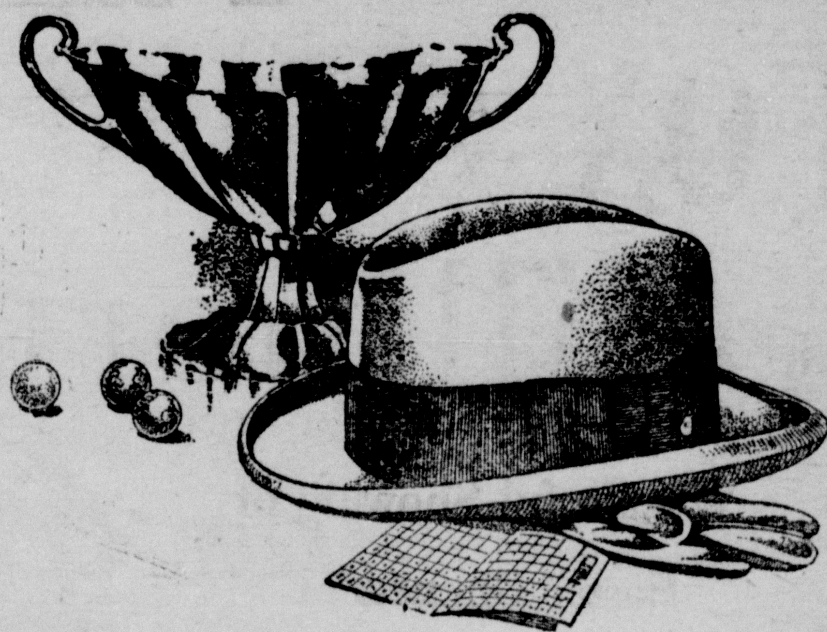

Be humble and gentle in your conversation of few words, but always pertinent when you speak, hearing out before your attempt to answer, and then speaking as if you would persuade, not impose.—Exchange.

Her Objection

The doctor was called to attend little Audrey who was ill. He prescribed for her a bottle of medicine which he insisted was pleasant to take. But Audrey steadfastly refused to imbibe it. She smiled slyly at the medicine man and declared: "Aw, you can't fool me, Doc! I am fully aware that it is not as good as peach ice cream."—Kansas City Star.

Economy in Headwear— STETSON HATS

CONSIDERED from the standpoint of the length of time you wear it, a Stetson is the cheapest hat you can buy. The smart style is an added attraction that costs you nothing, but it's a big factor in hat-satisfaction—an unbecoming style looks better on the shelf.

Our Stetson styles for this season will not stay here very long,—they will go out quickly on the heads of satisfied wearers.

CADDY MILLER'S HAT SHOPNATURE DOES PLAY FAVORITES

There is the California climate and Pennsylvania Oil.

Nature created a masterpiece when she gave to a strip of eastern land a deposit of the finest crude oil that man has ever drawn from the depths of the earth.

PENNSYLVANIA CRUDE OIL

No other is like it. No other is made from the same materials. East or West, out of thousands of oil deposits, there is only one oil field producing this grade of oil—the Pennsylvania Oil Field which includes western New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and southeastern Ohio.

Why? There is no answer, except some favor of nature—like the sunshine of California.

It isn't a lavish deposit. Nature chose to work on the quality, rather than the quantity basis. Only a small part of the country's oil production comes from the Pennsylvania field. But the reputation of this oil reaches around the world.

Throughout the world, the thorough lubrication of automobile engines is but one of the many difficult lubrication jobs which pure Pennsylvania Oil is called upon to perform.

TEACHERS IN SMOCKS.
Cincinnati, O., March 24 (UP)—Teachers in Newport, Kentucky, public schools showed up in classes clad in artistic smocks.
This resulted from an unofficial school board order.
Not that the school board ordered smocks. It merely ordered that skirts must be more than 12 inches from the floor and that elbows must not show.
The inference is that higher skirts and higher education do not go together as nicely as the board of education wished.

SUPREME COURT RULING
The following article from the Cincinnati Enquirer March 18th, 1926:
Columbus, Ohio, March, 19,—information made public today, by a process of elimination, bared to the citizens of Ohio how the Judges of the Ohio Supreme Court voted on the motion to admit for review an "emergency" case decided yesterday.
The lawsuit affected the right of a village council—and, by the same reasoning, a city council—to declare at any time that an "emergency" exists and so deny to citizens the right of referendum guaranteed by the Ohio constitution and referendum laws.
Three Judges of the Ohio Supreme Court made public how they voted. They were Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall and Judges R. R. Kinkade and Florence E. Allen. Judge Marshall made the announcement for himself and Judge Kinkade, speaking by authority of Judge Kinkade, while Miss Allen made a personal statement as to her vote.

Waiters Change Dress
In Russia under the Bolshevik regime waiters are changing their conventional attire from the customary stiff collars and white front shirts, to a blue blouse. The reason is that the time-old laundered attire was considered degrading. Tipping is also under the ban in Russia now, being considered as a "bribe," though many tourists find ready takers for their gratuities.

Attitude Is Voiced.

All three said they had no objection to permitting the people of the state to know how they voted, although it is not customary to give publicity to votes on motions in the high Court.

The case attracted wide attention because it involved the same principle as the famous case of W. W. Durbin against Harvey C. Smith, former Secretary of State. In that case, the Ohio Supreme Court held, by a four to three vote, that the re-organization code was an "emergency" law necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, although it was enacted in April and was not to become effective until July 1.

Judges who cast the majority votes then were E. S. Matthias, T. A. Jones, J. E. Robinson and Benson W. Hough. In the subsequent election, an issue was made of the case and Judge Hough was defeated for a second term. Judge Robinson, however, ran in 1924 and was re-elected.

Three Still on Bench.
Judges Matthias, Jones and Robinson still are on the bench. The fourth Judge is R. H. Day.

As three votes were cast to admit the emergency case yesterday, it was indicated that four, Judges Matthias, Jones, Day and Robinson either voted in the negative or refrained from voting. Four votes were necessary to admit the case. None of the four Judges made statements today.

The suit came originally from Garfield Heights, Cuyahoga County, and involved the right of the village Council to enact a second ordinance increasing the Mayor's salary after a first ordinance had been subjected to a referendum. The second ordinance was declared to be "an emergency measure," suspending the right of referendum. The "reason" for the necessity was alleged to be the referendum on the first ordinance and the state of uncertainty said to exist with reference to the Mayor's salary. It was said this affected the public health, peace and safety.

Precedent is Followed.
Lower Court refused to set aside the emergency provision, basing their decisions on the Durbin case. Failure to review the decision establishes this ruling as a precedent and inferentially upholds the Durbin case.

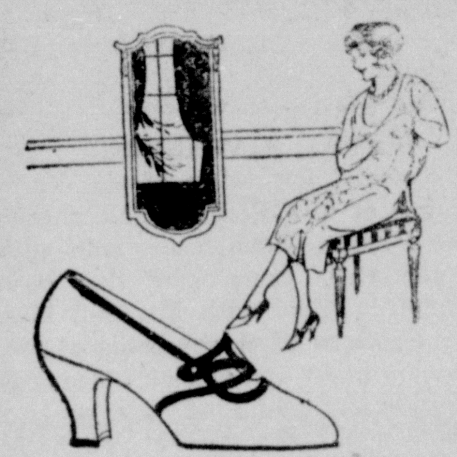

It was forecast today that the case is to be made an issue in the forthcoming primaries and in the election next Autumn. The question received added prominence by the three Judges in telling how they voted, a step unusual in the history of the court in recent years.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE
Dr. S. D. Graumlich will be absent from his office March 24 to 26 to attend the conference of veterinarians to be held at the College of Veterinary Medicine, Ohio State University, Columbus. This conference, which in reality is an intensive post graduate course for Ohio's practicing veterinarians, is arranged to give the practitioners an opportunity to obtain the latest information concerning the prevention and treatment of diseases of animals and naturally such information will directly benefit the live stock owners of this community. The live stock interests demand the latest information obtainable in this connection and we are pleased to state that such a conference will be the means of the veterinarians rendering a more efficient service in the future, which will be mutually beneficial. The entire community will, therefore, reap the benefit of his absence for these few days.

STATE INSURANCE SUPERINTENDENT

DRIVES MUTUAL INDEMNITY COMPANY OUT OF BUSINESS

Injunction Asked For to Restrain 24 Banks in State From Paying Out Any of the Company Assets—Receiver Also Asked For and Things Seem Not to Be Very Flattering For Company's Prospects.

Accusing officials of the Great American Mutual Indemnity Co., Mansfield, of making a false financial statement, Harry L. Conn, state superintendent of insurance Tuesday filed a petition in the court of appeals at Columbus, asking that he be allowed to take over the company and operate it.

He also asked a temporary injunction against 24 banks in the state to restrain them from paying out any of the company's money. It was granted by Judges Allread and Kunkle.

Two minutes later Nathan C. Hirsch, a stockholder in the company, filed action in common pleas court asking a receiver be appointed for the company.

Conn alleges the company, in its financial statement, listed $15,000 cash by a check, which is said to be spurious and which never has been collected.

Court of appeals judges will hear the case at 10 a. m. April 8.

Hirsch, who says he filed his petition on behalf of all stockholders alleged the company had a large number of unpaid claims which have involved it in a number of litigations and which, if sustained, would make it insolvent.

The company, which was incorporated in 1917, issues liability, steam boiler, health, automobile accident, fire and theft insurance.

There are 500 stockholders in the company, Hirsch said.

His action will be heard at 9 a. m. Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Rogers.

This is one of the biggest mutual automobile insurance crashes on record in Ohio, this company being the largest of its kind in Ohio and one of the largest in the United States. It employs approximately 1000 agents in Ohio and wrote more than $1,000,000 in automobile insurance in 1920 or more than 25 per cent of the business of the state.

According to the annual report for 1925 filed with the state insurance department by the company in which it is alleged there was fraud, the company claimed assets of $874,784 and liabilities of $685,280.

The petition of the state alleges that the company "is insolvent; that it has willfully violated the insurance laws of this state by willfully making a false annual statement and causing the said false annual statement to be filed with the insurance department of Ohio; that in said annual statement it carries as a cash item a check for $15,000 on which it has never collected the money and which is reported to be spurious, and the plaintiff believes and alleges it to be fraudulent; that it is represented as having moneys on deposits are for future collateral only to certain obligation of the company—that it has permitted agents' balances to remain uncollected until many of the balances are uncollectable; that it is operating and carrying on a certain repair garage at a constant loss over the objections of more than two years' standing, contrary to its charter and to the insurance laws of Ohio."

The petition further alleged that the superintendent of insurance on examination has found "the company to be in such condition that its further transaction of business will be hazardous to its members, its policyholders, its creditors and to the public."

NATURAL GAS COMPANIES RAISE RATES

Adjustments are Being Made to Encourage Increase by Large Users of Gas.

Natural gas companies which a few years ago adjusted their schedules to discourage the large consumption of gas are now rearranging their rates so as to encourage an increased use of gas.

The Dayton Power and Light company, Dayton, has just filed with the Ohio Public Utilities commission a proposed schedule for Dayton which provides for a rate of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 25,000 cubic feet of natural gas used. The present ordinance carries a rate of $1 for all over 20,000 cubic feet of gas used. Thus the charge to the heavy consumers of gas is cut in half.

The gas company, on the other hand, has raised the rate for the first 5,000 cubic feet of gas from 50 cents a thousand to 75 cents a thousand, an increase of 50 per cent to the small consumer.

Dayton's city commission, headed by Mayor A. C. McDonald, announces that it intends to make an extended study of the gas situation before entering into any agreement. "So many statements have been made relative to gas supplies and rates," said Mayor McDonald, "that we intend to proceed very cautiously. I am disposed to doubt many of the claims and put forth by gas and fuel companies."

Other cities of the state which have new natural gas schedules up for consideration will watch with interest Mayor McDonald's course in Dayton, as he has determined to make a strong fight for a reasonable rate and will carry the case to the Utilities commission and, the courts if necessary in order to obtain an equitable schedule, it is stated.

A NICE HONOR

Columbus—Complete denial of the charge by State Superintendent of Insurance Harry L. Conn that they have been guilty of making false financial statements was made today by officials of the Great American Mutual Indemnity company of Mansfield.

BURDEN ON FUTURE

There are members of Congress who are setting up the cry that the next generation should pay for the war. They would extend the period of retirement of the public debt to 60 years instead of the 25-year term contemplated at present.

To these gentlemen Secretary Mellon has made an effective reply. One part of that reply is as non-technical as anything could be. It is something that every American voter of normal intelligence can understand. For that reason it should be given emphasis whenever the subject is argued.

"This country is today exceedingly prosperous," says the Secretary of the Treasury. "It can afford to pay off its debts without undue burden upon its taxpayers. Its history has always been prompt extinguishment of its war debts. It is ready for the next emergency when it comes. The time to repair your roof is in good weather, not when it is raining. The time to pay your debts is when you can."

Nobody can refute the Secretary's argument. The United States, prosperous now, can afford to pay its debts. We do not know how prosperous the United States will be 40 or 50 years from now, in the days when our children and grandchildren will have to bear the country's financial burdens. Why load them down with a burden in advance? —Chicago Journal of Commerce.

SMALL BOY DID COME IN HANDY

Rebecca West, the novelist and critic, discussed fathers at a dinner in New York.

"Fathers look on fatherhood in a selfish way," she said. "They are all more or less like Mr. Ferguson."

"Mr. Ferguson was a tremendous smoker, but his wife detested the habit; so he promised to swear off, and only smoked after that when out of the house."

"Well, one evening on his return home his tobacco fell out on the floor as he was taking his handkerchief from his pocket; but he didn't notice the accident and went on upstairs for a wash and brush-up. Then he came down to dinner."

"He had just taken his seat when Mrs. Ferguson stalked in with the tobacco. She held it under his nose and said:

"What do you know about this?"

"With wonderful presence of mind Mr. Ferguson turned to his young son."

"Holy mackinaw!" he snarled. "Smoking at your age, hey? Come with me, you young whelp!"

"And he took the boy upstairs and gave him a sound thrashing. Then he threw the tobacco over the fence where he could easily find it in the morning."

"Gosh," he said afterward at the club, "what a grand good thing it is to be the father of an upstanding boy that you can rely on in these emergencies!"

Distinct Benefit of Trees on City Streets

In a discussion of the effect of trees on temperature Wesley Bailey Leach, city forester of New York, points out that if our streets and parks were well supplied with vigorous trees we should have much cooler summers and warmer winters.

He gave as his chief reason for this theory the fact that the temperature of a tree never varies, in summer or winter, from 54 degrees Fahrenheit. "If we cross one of the avenues on a hot day," states Mr. Leach, "when the temperature is 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and pass under the shade of a tree we are refreshed by the cool air that meets us. What makes the change? Not the shade alone, but chiefly the fact that we are in the presence of a body that has a fixed temperature of 54 degrees Fahrenheit, or 46 degrees cooler than the street temperature."

Likewise, on a cold winter day, in passing from the zero temperature of the street into a group of trees, the warmth experienced is due not only to the shelter afforded by the trees but to the warmth of the trees themselves.

Honor Mme. Sevigne

At the Carnavalet museum this year will be observed the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mme. de Sevigne, the famous letter-writer of the Seventeenth century. The Paris municipal council has voted 30,000 francs (about $1,150) for the purpose. A special exhibition of portraits, souvenirs and documents associated with the distinguished letter-writer will be shown in the section of the building in which she lived for several years. The museum possesses a large collection of her documents, but other museums will lend from their collections to make the exhibition complete.

Fish's Six-Foot Saw

The sawfish is a ray, which retains the elongated form of the shark, with the tall as its sole organ of locomotion, says Nature Magazine. The saw, which in large individuals reaches a length of six feet, is a flat prolongation of the snout with a series of strong teeth on each side.

WORN IN—NOT ON THE EAR—WITH ABSOLUTE COMFORT.

The Midget Phonophor is an achievement of a group of Europe's foremost scientists. Worn without headband, practically invisible, it has brought acute hearing to thousands of sufferers, among them the most stubborn cases. BIG TIME

Planned For House Warming Party April 9.

The meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion which was held at the Post room in Memorial Hall last evening was very well attended and the different committee chairmen reported that their work for the House Warming party which is to be held on Friday evening, April 9th, is progressing nicely. Mrs. Parrett, president, presided and the matter of poppies for the annual "Poppy Sale," which is always held just before Memorial Day, was discussed. It was decided to make the poppies this year at a special meeting which will be arranged for that purpose at a later date.

Membership in the Auxiliary is increasing, two new members being present last evening. Mrs. Albert Rogers and Mrs. Gilbert Cooper, while dues were received from Mrs. Brunelle Parrett Downing, of Springfield and Miss Margaret Shea, of Columbus, who were unable to be present. Application has been made for membership by Mary Ryan Watts who was also unable to be present last evening, and the names of Sara Haswell, Ruth Holman, Eleanor Ryan and Mrs. John Goodchild were presented for membership.

Mrs. Prose, hospital chairman, reported a donation by Mrs. Roy Davis of a set of O. Henry books and two dozen Victrola Records which were taken to the Veterans' hospital last week. A committee was also appointed to secure flowers for the wards for the hospital for Easter.

At the conclusion of the regular business an outline of the plans for the party was heard which included besides the already known cards and dancing, the announcement that the committee from the Legion had secured an orchestra which has been here before and which has proven very popular, a booth for refreshments has been planned, tables where ice-cream and cake will be served will also be placed in a convenient place and those who enjoy dancing may have the entire evening for that pleasure.

The hostesses will be Mrs. A. A. Parrett, Mrs. A. W. Holman, Mrs. Howard Jones, Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. Irwin F. Boggs, Mrs. J. J. Rooney, Mrs. C. E. Moeller, Miss Anna Florence, Mrs. Amos C. Wilson, Mrs. B. F. Yates, Mrs. Geo. R. Haswell, Mrs. Noah Weaver and Mrs. A. M. Weigand.

Mrs. B. T. Hedges will be chairman in charge of the card room and will be assisted by this committee: Mrs. Chas. Smith, Mrs. E. E. Prose, Mrs. Herschel Alkire, Mrs. Chas. Gusman, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson and Mrs. N. O. Frye.

Mrs. A. W. Holman is chairman in charge of cakes and will select her own helpers.

Tickets for this party are now in the hands of every member of both Legion and Auxiliary and as this money which it is hoped will be raised is to be used for the benefit of the ex-service man and his family it should be a pleasure for the citizens to help in a good cause and also enjoy an evening that has been planned for all.

As She Understood It

Dorothy, aged four, was told not to say "gee," as the word was slang. That night, when her father came home, Dorothy ran to him, and said, "daddy, I don't say 'gee' because it's 'slam'!" "It's what?" asked the puzzled father. "Slam," repeated the youngster. Seeing that her parent still did not understand, Dorothy went to the door, opened it, and then closed it with a bang. "Slam, like this," she explained.

LOANS UP TO $500.00.

It is doubtful if any one factor has elevated the living standards in the average family as much as the improved credit facilities afforded by modern financial institutions.

Twenty years ago, if you wanted to buy a thing, you had to save the money first, and lay the cash on the barrel head. Today any worthy person can establish his credit, make his purchase and pay while he plays.

City Loan service has progressed with the modern trend—in fact, has been a pioneer in the movement. It is popular because it fills the credit needs of most people. It enables folks to develop their character and to have most of the good things they deserve. City Loan customers are today enjoying comforts that were considered rare luxuries by Queen Victoria.

WILL YOU HELP?
Opportunity knocks at Circleville's door.
Thru the influence of several local gardeners, the Held Tractor company of Columbus, makers of labor saving and aiding machinery for vegetable growers, has been induced to bring their plant to this city, provided $35,000 capital can be secured, of which $15,000 has already been subscribed.
The industrial committee, composed of N. C. Spangler, R. L. Brehmer and Clarence Barnhart, has investigated this concern from every angle. Mr. Barnhart, a certified public accountant, has audited the books and has estimated the cost of production and reports that everything is in first-class shape.
This company is not asking our people for something for nothing. No bonus of any kind is asked. For every $100 subscribed, one share of stock of the par value of $100 is issued.
Twenty thousand dollars will be used immediately for production, orders for which are now on hand and $15,000 will be used for the erection of a factory on suitable grounds in this city.
We have until Saturday of this week to make good on this, the cleanest offer that has ever been made to Circleville.
Here is a golden opportunity to help Circleville and, at the same time, help yourself.

SMOKE STACK BLOWN DOWN.
During a recent gale one of the big smoke stacks over the boiler plant of The Falls Rubber company, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, was blown down. This accident would have crippled the steam system very badly, meaning the loss of considerable time in their tire and Evergreen tube departments until a new stack could be erected.
Falls engineers conceived the idea of borrowing a railroad locomotive. The next morning following the accident an engine was stationed outside the power house. A steam pipe from the locomotive to the factory enabled Falls to resume operation. To obtain sufficient draft, a twenty foot stack was attached to the locomotive.

Britain Boosting Aviation

Great Britain appears determined to give civil and commercial aviation at least a fair chance. The latest step in this direction is the acquisition of Hendon airfield which the government bought for $650,000, in order to centralize and control in efficient manner every branch of aviation in Britain not primarily military. Of course, Hendon is to have a military importance also. Indeed, it will become the headquarters of two squadrons of the royal air force, as well as two auxiliary squadrons scheduled as part of the London air defense force. Hendon was originally a country club for wealthy amateurs in aviation.

Riceless Day

The Chinese are now conducting a campaign that is very much different than anything we have ever seen in this country. We are used to all sorts of campaigns to promote the eating of certain foods, but in China they are now conducting a campaign to get people not to eat rice. This is necessary, says the Progressive Grocer, because the heavy rice consumption usually leads to famine at the end of the year.

Modernize Home of Mary, Queen of Scots

London.—The old home of Mary, queen of Scots, has been modernized. Holyrood palace, near Edinburgh, one of the state apartments, not only has been equipped with modern heating arrangements, cooking ranges and bathtubs, but also an elevator and an up-to-date radio receiving set.

The present Queen Mary herself has taken great interest in the introduction of modern improvements at the ancient palace, and she and King George will pay a visit there as soon as the innovations have been installed.

Queen Mary also has purchased much antique furniture and many curios for Holyrood, to add to the attractiveness of the state apartments and to help fill the space from which an ancient stairway was removed to make way for an American-made elevator.

AMUSEMENTS

A picture that is made solely for entertainment purposes, is "Exchange of Wives," which is the attraction at the Met theater.

"Exchange of Wives" propounds no weighty question, not does it point a moral unless it is to try a trial exchange of wives before suing for a divorce.

This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production brings Eleanor Boardman and Lew Cody to the fore as excellent comedians, and gives Renee Adoree and Creighton Hale their greatest opportunities to date.

The treatment is said to present the Henley touch at its best, which is no small tribute, for it was this same master hand that produced "A Slave of Fashion," "So This is Marriage" and "The Denial." As in "A Slave of Fashion," Mr. Henley has accorded his latest achievement a deft comedy touch that makes each situation sparkle with brilliancy and freshness. Those who have seen the production are united in acclaiming "Exchange of Wives" his finest picture.

The theme has been rarely, if ever, used before, and lends itself most readily to screen treatment. It concerns two husbands married a little more than a year, who suddenly discover each other's wife to be more attractive and desirable than their respective wives. But when the cold, reserved wife of the one brings about an exchange of wives, each, after a short time, realizes what a pearl his own wife is.

The story is based on the famous Broadway play by Cosmo Hamilton. Frederic and Fanny Hatton wrote the adaptation and continuity.

Persia's Real Name

Iran is the official designation of the kingdom of Persia at the present day. The name Iran was originally given to the great plateau in western Asia, comprising modern Persia, most of Afghanistan, and Beluchistan. It extends from the Elburz and Hindu Kush mountains on the north of the Persian gulf and Arabian sea on the south and from Kurdistan and the Tigris on the west to the Indus on the east.—Kansas City Star.

Strike for Happy Medium

Far be it from us to decry an aspect of hominess in a room. A room to be successful must have the appearance of being lived in, otherwise it will be the cold, impersonal showroom of the decorator. There is a happy medium, and it is this that the owner of good taste must strive for in furnishing and decorating his home.

Her Objection

The doctor was called to attend little Audrey who was ill. He prescribed for her a bottle of medicine which he insisted was pleasant to take. But Audrey steadfastly refused to imbibe it. She smiled slyly at the medicine man and declared: "Aw, you can't fool me, Doc! I am fully aware that it is not as good as peach ice cream."—Kansas City Star.

Economy in Headwear— STETSON HATS

CADDY MILLER'S HAT SHOPNATURE DOES PLAY FAVORITES

There is the California climate and Pennsylvania Oil.

Nature created a masterpiece when she gave to a strip of eastern land a deposit of the finest crude oil that man has ever drawn from the depths of the earth.

PENNSYLVANIA CRUDE OIL

No other is like it. No other is made from the same materials. East or West, out of thousands of oil deposits, there is only one oil field producing this grade of oil—the Pennsylvania Oil Field which includes western New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and southeastern Ohio.

Why? There is no answer, except some favor of nature—like the sunshine of California.

It isn't a lavish deposit. Nature chose to work on the quality, rather than the quantity basis. Only a small part of the country's oil production comes from the Pennsylvania field. But the reputation of this oil reaches around the world.

Throughout the world, the thorough lubrication of automobile engines is but one of the many difficult lubrication jobs which pure Pennsylvania Oil is called upon to perform.

TEACHERS IN SMOCKS.

Cincinnati, O., March 24 (UP) — Teachers in Newport, Kentucky, public schools showed up in classes clad in artistic smocks. This resulted from an unofficial school board order. Not that the school board ordered smocks. It merely ordered that skirts must be more than 12 inches from the floor and that elbows must not show. The inference is that higher skirts and higher education do not go together as nicely as the board of education wished.

SUPREME COURT RULING

The following article from the Cincinnati Enquirer March 18th, 1926:

Columbus, Ohio, March 19, —information made public today, by a process of elimination, bared to the citizens of Ohio how the Judges of the Ohio Supreme Court voted on the motion to admit for review an "emergency" case decided yesterday.

The lawsuit affected the right of a village council—and, by the same reasoning, a city council—to declare at any time that an "emergency" exists and so deny to citizens the right of referendum guaranteed by the Ohio constitution and referendum laws.

Three Judges of the Ohio Supreme Court made public how they voted. They were Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall and Judges R. R. Kinkade and Florence E. Allen. Judge Marshall made the announcement for himself and Judge Kinkade, speaking by authority of Judge Kinkade, while Miss Allen made a personal statement as to her vote.

Attitude Is Voiced.

All three said they had no objection to permitting the people of the state to know how they voted, although it is not customary to give publicity to votes on motions in the high Court.

The case attracted wide attention because it involved the same principle as the famous case of W. W. Durbin against Harvey C. Smith, former Secretary of State. In that case, the Ohio Supreme Court held, by a four to three vote, that the re-organization code was an "emergency" law necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, although it was enacted in April and was not to become effective until July 1.

Judges who cast the majority votes then were E. S. Matthias, T. A. Jones, J. E. Robinson and Benson W. Hough. In the subsequent election, an issue was made of the case and Judge Hough was defeated for a second term. Judge Robinson, however, ran in 1924 and was re-elected.

Three Still on Bench.

Judges Matthias, Jones and Robinson still are on the bench. The fourth Judge is R. H. Day.

As three votes were cast to admit the emergency case yesterday, it was indicated that four, Judges Matthias, Jones, Day and Robinson either voted in the negative or refrained from voting. Four votes were necessary to admit the case. None of the four Judges made statements today.

The suit came originally from Garfield Heights, Cuyahoga County, and involved the right of the village Council to enact a second ordinance increasing the Mayor's salary after a first ordinance had been subjected to a referendum. The second ordinance was declared to be "an emergency measure," suspending the right of referendum. The "reason" for the necessity was alleged to be the referendum on the first ordinance and the state of uncertainty said to exist with reference to the Mayor's salary. It was said this affected the public health, peace and safety.

Precedent is Followed.

Lower Court refused to set aside the emergency provision, basing their decisions on the Durbin case. Failure to review the decision establishes this ruling as a precedent and inferentially upholds the Durbin case.

It was forecast today that the case is to be made an issue in the forthcoming primaries and in the election next Autumn. The question received added prominence by the three Judges in telling how they voted, a step unusual in the history of the court in recent years.

The death warrant for Charles I is still preserved.

Waiters Change Dress

In Russia under the Bolshevik regime waiters are changing their conventional attire from the customary stiff collars and white front shirts, to a blue blouse. The reason is that the time-old laundered attire was considered degrading. Tipping is also under the ban in Russia now, being considered as a "bribe," though many tourists find ready takers for their gratuities.

Length of Human Life

According to Dr. Franklin Martin of Chicago, the American public had an excellent health record during 1925. He says the average span of life has been increased to fifty-eight years, whereas a few decades ago it was less than forty. But medical science has a long way to go to achieve the ultimate goal of success and many authorities believe human life should average seventy years or more.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Dr. S. D. Graumlich will be absent from his office March 24 to 26 to attend the conference of veterinarians to be held at the College of Veterinary Medicine, Ohio State university, Columbus. This conference, which in reality is an intensive post graduate course for Ohio's practicing veterinarians, is arranged to give the practitioners an opportunity to obtain the latest information concerning the prevention and treatment of diseases of animals and naturally such information will directly benefit the live stock owners of this community. The live stock interests demand the latest information obtainable in this connection and we are pleased to state that such a conference will be the means of the veterinarians rendering a more efficient service in the future, which will be mutually beneficial. The entire community will, therefore, reap the benefit of his absence for these few days.
